9 PLACING OF ORDERS AND TRADING CONDITIONS

- 9.1 Orders must be placed and will be executed substantially in accordance with the Order Execution Policy attached hereto.
- 9.2 The Client acknowledges that certain Exchanges or External Exchanges do not support Market Orders. If the Client places a Market Order in respect of such Exchange or External Exchange, Velocity Trade may automatically convert the Market Order to an aggressive Limit Order within a certain percentage limit. The actual price at which the Transaction is completed pursuant to a Market Order made in the aforesaid circumstances may vary from the price indicated in the Market Order between 1% (one percent) and 4% (four percent), depending on the Exchange or External Exchange and the type of Security. The Client will be responsible to check if the Market Order is filled in the market after the Client has submitted the Order and shall immediately notify Velocity thereof.
- 9.3 If the Client experiences or suspects any errors, made by or arising from the Client, with a Market Order, the Client should contact Velocity Trade immediately. Velocity Trade will not be responsible for Market Orders not filled as a result of such error.
- 9.4 The Client acknowledges that Velocity Trade's Service Providers may choose to translate Market Orders on various markets into aggressive Limit Orders where the variance between the price indicated between the Market Order and the actual price is 3% (three percent) in the money. This is due to the Service Provider's internal compliance and is set to protect the Client from "bad fills". Velocity Trade will not be responsible for missing fills due to this.
- 9.5 The Client acknowledges and agrees that in cases where a Market Order regarding a Security is split in that the Transaction is completed over a period of more than one day, the total fees payable to Velocity Trade in of the Transaction may increase as a result of the fee, as set out in the applicable Product Schedule, being charged in respect of the number of days necessary for the total execution of the Transaction.
- 9.6 In US markets, Velocity Trade consolidates liquidity from a number of sources in addition to the primary External Exchanges. When there is a delay in the opening of the primary External Exchange, Orders can be filled from these other sources before trading commences on the primary External Exchange.
- 9.7 The Client may issue a "One-Cancels-Other Order". This instruction consists of two Orders. If either of the Orders is executed because its market conditions have been met, the related order is automatically cancelled.

- 9.8 Velocity Trade trades Securities through its related party Exchange members, third party brokers or relevant market participants, which are members of the relevant Exchange. The Client acknowledges that these Service Providers determine whether the Transaction in question is to be executed on the relevant Exchange. The Transaction is performed on a commission basis.
- 9.9 The Order is only submitted for execution provided it is tradable on the relevant Exchange through the Service Provider. If the Transaction cannot be executed on the terms outlined above, the Client will be notified on the Trading Platform.
- 9.10 The Order may be split or merged, and thus be executed at different prices during the day of trading or the following days. In case that an Order is split, and completed partially over a period of more than one day, the total trading costs may increase. The reason for such increase is that the minimum fee as set out in the applicable Product Schedule may be charged more than one time based on the number of days necessary for the total execution of the Order.

ORDER EXECUTION POLICY

1 PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF THIS POLICY

Velocity will take all reasonable steps to obtain the best possible result for the Client (taking into account various factors relevant to the execution) when: (i) executing Orders on behalf of the Client; or (ii) receiving and transmitting Orders on behalf of the Client.

This policy defines Velocity's approach to meeting its regulatory obligations and the standard of execution quality we will achieve in accordance with the requirements of the FAIS. It should inform decisions on how, where, and with whom Velocity will deal when it acts for and on behalf of Clients.

This policy forms part of the "Agreement" as defined in the terms and condition to which this policy is attached as an Appendix.

2 ORDER EXECUTION

Where Velocity execute Orders on behalf of Clients, Velocity will take all reasonable steps to obtain the best possible result, taking in to account the relative importance of the execution factors and execution criteria. The execution criteria that have been considered in developing this policy are:

- the characteristics of the Client;
- the characteristics of the type of Order;
- the characteristics of the financial instruments that are the subject of that Order; and
- the characteristics of the execution venues to which that Order can be directed.

Orders for execution will differ in size, type and market impact. It is therefore possible for Velocity to fulfil its best execution commitment in different ways for Orders that have different characteristics. The execution criteria above have been considered when determining the relative importance of the execution factors for each class of financial instrument and the execution venues which Velocity utilise.

3 EXECUTION FACTORS

We are required to take into account the following execution factors when taking reasonable steps to achieve best execution. These factors will also be considered when determining the execution venues that are selected to execute an order;

- price;
- costs;
- speed;
- likelihood of execution and settlement; and
- nature or any other consideration relevant to the execution of an order.

Taking into account the execution criteria listed above, we have determined that the factor which will generally be of primary importance will be notional amount (Order size).

In some instances, we may consider speed, likelihood of execution and settlement, the size and nature of the Order and market impact to be of greater importance in achieving the best possible result for the Client. Depending on the circumstances, and for some orders or financial instruments, we may determine that other execution factors are more important in obtaining the best possible results.

4 EXECUTION VENUES AND PROCESS

We utilise multiple execution venues to provide a broad range of financial instruments and asset classes. We reserve the right to use alternative execution venues, where it is deemed appropriate in order to achieve the best possible result for the Client.

We regularly assess execution venues to ensure that the best possible results are obtained when executing Client orders. We will execute orders on one of the following execution venues, or a combination of one or more of the following:

- regulated markets;
- multi-lateral trading facilities;
- by crossing client orders with that of another client; and
- market counterparties or other liquidity providers.

Since we execute Client orders and also transmit certain orders to other firms for execution, in this policy, the term execution venue also includes other counterparties with which we place orders or to which we transmit orders for execution.

5 ORDER HANDLING

We maintain procedures and arrangements which provide for the prompt, fair and expeditious execution of Orders, relative to other orders of a similar nature placed by other clients.

We aim to execute Orders promptly in all cases, taking account of the nature of the financial instrument in question. It may be necessary, due to the size of the Orders executed, for Velocity to execute Orders over a longer period of time. This is likely to happen where trades of such a size would have a large market impact if they were executed at one point in time. Orders are executed in the order of the time of their receipt by Velocity. All executed orders are recorded by Velocity.

Where Clients provide us with specific instructions in relation to an order, or any particular aspect of the Order, we will execute the Clients order in accordance with those instructions, subject to the Applicable Law and the Agreement. However, this might mean that we cannot take those steps under our execution policy that we believe necessary to achieve best execution in relation to the elements covered by the Client's specific instructions.

If the Order includes a Limit Order, then it may not always be possible to execute an Order in the prevailing market conditions and the Order may need to be made public. Velocity will use its discretion, considering the Client's best interests, when deciding to make the Limit Order public unless otherwise instructed by Client.
